

Axia CD300 Digital Image Capture Device

The AXIA CD300 is a digital image capture device designed to save digital video and still images from an analog video sources. With the AXIA CD300, you can effortlessly capture videos and images, which can then be easily transferred to any computer or secure network via a SDHC flash card. It works with C-Arms, Endoscopic Cameras, Ultrasounds and most videoimaging devices with an analog output. The amount of data storage is determined by the capacity of SD Card. (Note: One hour of video takes about 2.3GB)

Specifications:

- Device Type: Medical Video Recorder. Records video and still images in standard definition from medical video sources
- Media: Records to SDHC flash Card (not included)
- Display : 3.5 inch LCD (For navigation only, not for diagnostics)
- Video In/Out: PAL or NTSC / S-Video or BNC
- Video Format: MPEG-2 (DVD quality)
- Image Format: JPG
- Image Size: 320 x 240 pixels
- Power: AC 120V 60Hz 25W / 3-prong AC jack